Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-6 recite the limitation "the main pipe"; there is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kent (US2005/0016354) in view of Laio (US 2004/0237755A1).

Kent discloses the use of a musical instrument stand comprising a base frame, a main tube and a connector, the base frame having a joint, a first leg rod (13), a second leg rod (13), a third leg rod (13), and a main pipe, the main tube engaging with the main pipe (see figure 1), the tube having a plurality of oblong grooves to receive a fastening bolt, a socket disposed on the main pipe, the connector disposed on a top end of the main tube (see figure 6).

Kent does not disclose the use of an inner tube inserted in a socket, the inner tube having an inner groove, a support device engaging with the socket, a brace device engaging with the connector, and the fastening bolt fastening the main pipe and the main tube.

Laio (US 2004/0237755A1) disclose the use of an inner tube inserted in a socket, the inner tube having an inner groove, a support device engaging with the socket, a brace device engaging with the connector, and the fastening bolt fastening the main pipe and the main tube (see figure 1).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device as disclosed by Kent with the socket as disclosed by Liam in order to provide a stand with quick release capabilities.

3. Claims 2-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
